Executive to the Director.

-23 Oct. 1946-

TO: Executive to the Director

Concur with the Director's suggestion; however, from a standpoint of duplication it should be pointed out that the Intelligence Division, War Department General Staff has an "Intelligence Group" as a part of its organization.

(216-S)

To: Executive to the Director:

The (present) Office of Research and Evaluation has expressed a preference, in changing its name, for "Office of Reports and Estimates" as being more descriptive of the work which the Office performs and as offering the convenience (slight, to be sure) of retention of the same initials, "ORE", as those used at present, and thus avoiding a certain amount of original confusion after the change has been effected.

If the Director prefers, however, ^{ORE} offers no objections to use of the title, "Office of Intelligence."
